Channeling Bond: Empire CEO Robert Kresson Spotlights Investigative and Security Measures at Cleveland Bond Soiree

Empire Investigations LLC Sponsors James Bond Event Benefiting the Greater Cleveland Food Bank — January 24, 2015

CLEVELAND, OH — JANUARY 24, 2015

Robert Kresson is no stranger to the axiom "the only constant is change." As CEO of the internationally-renowned Empire Investigations LLC, Kresson stands at the forefront of an industry in perpetual evolution — spanning international investigations, computer and cell phone forensics, corporate and domestic surveillance, handwriting analysis, legal defense, and cyber security.

It's little surprise, then, that Empire Investigations signed on as a corporate sponsor for the James Bond Cleveland Bond Soiree on Saturday, January 24, 2015 — honoring the 52nd anniversary of the Bond series, presented by Kent Schmor Champagne Parties Cleveland and the Global Bond Society. Kresson seized the opportunity to showcase Empire's wide array of tools and tactics at an event that itself celebrates the cutting-edge gadgets and expertly executed spy tactics that define the Bond franchise.

"There's no better event for Empire Investigation to be a part of — a night of elegance, espionage and adventure. And what's even better — we're able to benefit a good cause in the Greater Cleveland Food Bank, which ensures that families in the Northeast Ohio communities have the nutritious food they need every day. That is the real mission this evening."

Kresson founded Empire in 1982 and quickly built not only a track record of investigative and protective success, but a client list the likes of which few in the industry could match. As a member of the World Association of Detectives and a licensed private investigator in both corporate and domestic arenas, Kresson is widely regarded as one of the country's top counter-espionage investigators — with expertise spanning both the technical and human dimensions of intelligence gathering.

Recognized for his work around the globe, the media consistently calls on Kresson as a reliable source for investigative and protective services commentary. Empire has been featured in USA Today, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, the Jenny Jones talk show, and the Saudi Gazette.
